Shook appoints yearbook staff members

Jeanette Shook, Del Ano editor, will be assisted by a staff of 18 students, it was announced this week by Miss Frances Egge, art instructor and Del Ano advisor. The group assembled for the first time Tuesday, and it was decided that future meetings will be held at noon every Wednesday.

18 staff members named
This year's staff includes Claire Graif and Gene Edwards, art and layout editors, Marilyn Perrin and Paul Anderson, business managers, Geraldine Spar, editor in charge of commercial photography, Neal Frisby and Jack Riddle, photographers, Don Nelson and Marjorie Underwood, snapshots.

Joyce Chase, administration, Dick Scott, day and night classes, Helen Asher, activities, Nina Kipf, clubs, Mary Alice Polard, new jaycee campus, Don McDaniel, men's sports, Shirley Mann, women's sports, John Ashby, graduates and classes, and Jeanne Wilcox.

DEL ANO PRE-SALE

"Buy your Del Ano during the money saving pre-sales; it's the economical thing to do," stress Paul Anderson and Marilyn Perrin, year book managers.

Yearbooks are on sale in the office at a reduced rate for the benefit of all students who did not purchase a year A.S.B. card. The price of the Don annual is $3.25, instead of $3.75, if bought before the beginning Christmas vacation, December 14.

Ex-faculty member works on atom bomb

Norman Hicks, former jaycee science instructor, has been named as an important contributor to the development of the atomic bomb.

After working as a physicist in the radiation laboratory at the University of California for seven months, Mr. Hicks was transferred to the Oak Ridge, Tenn. atom bomb plant, where he continued doing research work in atomic power. He remained there for 20 months, and then returned to the University of California where he is now engaged in nuclear research.

Mr. Hicks taught in Santa Ana schools for 14 years. His mother, Mrs. Florence Hicks, resides at 526 South Parton street.

Class members tell of works published

Telling of their experiences in the literary field, Miss Dorothy Davis, Pasadena and Mrs. Ruth Ellen Storey spoke at the Nov. 1 session of the evening Creative Writing class. Both have had items published recently, according to Miss Lota Blythe, instructor of the class.

Miss Davis writes stories and verse for women's magazines, and Mrs. Storey has had stories in Cosmopolitan and several other magazines. She was recently in New York, and told the class of some of her interviews with editors there.

Mrs. Bertha Barron, Villa Park, member of Miss Blythe's class, recently has had an article accepted by "Baby Talk," a mother's magazine.

Pictured above are members of the jaycee Executive Board. Standing from left to right in the back row are Jeanette Shook, Del Ano editor; Bob Fletcher, sophomore class president; and Helen Asher, social commissioner. Middle row: Stanley Gorzuchowski, Associated Student president; Keith Naylor, vice-president; Joyce Chase, secretary-treasurer; and John Ashby, commissioner of assemblies. Front row: Nina Kipf, AWS president, and Rebecca Franklin, WAA president. Not shown is Beverly Honan, El Don editor.

McKee Fisk, former jaycee dean, was recently appointed to the position of business section editor of McGraw and Hill Publications.

Rivals renew annual grid scrap for first time in two years

For the first time in two years the Santa Ana Dons will meet the Fullerton Yellowjackets in the annual Turkey day game at the Municipal Bowl, November 22 at 2 p. m., climaxing the 1945 gridiron season.

Because of wartime restrictions these Thanksgiving Day games which continually promote the feeling of rivalry between the two colleges, were discontinued in 1942.

Dons Look Good

In the 18 times that Santa Ana and Fullerton have met the Dons have won 13 of the games; Fullerton has won three, and two of the games have been ties. The largest score ever registered in these games was a 20-0 defeat the Dons handed Fullerton in 1939.

The Dons will probably be at full strength for the first time since the opening game with Chaffey, barring mishaps before game time. The Fullerton squad has been defeated twice this season, while Santa Ana has won every game played. The Hornets have played several games with Western Division teams, which come from larger colleges.

Santa Ana Leads

At press time the Dons have accumulated a total of 112 points to the opponents 12, which makes the former team the favorite.

Fullerton is paced by Don Leibhardt, who is the Hornet's star backfield man. Leibhardt graduated from Anaheim high school, and has been going great guns for the Yellowjackets.

Santa Ana will be paced by Don Miller and Paul Myrehn, who are two of the Dons' most outstanding players. Miller and Myrehn are both graduates of Newport Harbor High school.

The starting lineups for the two teams are:

Santa Ana		Fullerton
Vaughn	LE	Frahm
Cook	LT	Manaffero
B. Neth	LG	Griffin
Kelchner	C	Tallant
Dennis	RG	Kerwin
Mayes	RT	Bell
Perriraz	RT	Hargrove

AWS sponsor semi-formal Christmas dance

It's not leap year, it's not Sadie Hawkins Day, but it is the gala "girl's choice" Christmas dance, December 14.

The semi-formal dance is sponsored by the Associated Women Students and marks the last college social event before Christmas vacation.

Bob Garrison and his orchestra will hold the band spotlight and provide a musical background for the women and their "chosen one."

Tickets are $1.25 per couple with an ASB card and $1.50 without a student membership.

Parents to attend Memorial assembly

Special guests of the Associated Students, when the Pearl Harbor Memorial assembly is held December 7, will be the parents of those former students who gave their lives in World War II. The assembly will be held at 11 a. m., and the public is invited.

March of Time film to be shown here November 28

The New South, a March-of-Time film dealing with social and economic problems of the South, will be presented on the morning of November 28, in C108, it was announced today by Ernest Crozier Phillips, assembly director.

Journalism class plans press day

Plans for the renewal of the annual junior college Press day to be held Dec. 7 were revealed today by John H. Duke, journalism instructor. Some fifty or sixty Orange county high school journalism students will be invited.

The purpose of the meeting will be to acquaint future jaycee students with the campus and the journalism facilities offered here. Activities of the day will feature an outstanding newspaperman as speaker, workshop meetings, and technical discussions on various phases of journalism.

The program is being prepared by the journalism department, El Don staff, and members of the Press club.

"Three" for the team

The 1945 football season is rapidly drawing to a close for our championship-bound Dons.

With one game, the annual Turkey day clash against Fullerton remaining on the schedule, it appears that our pigskin-pushers will emerge undefeated and untied for the mythical championship of the Eastern Jaysee conference.

After last Friday's scoring spree against San Bernardino, in which the Dons looked more like a big league club than any game before, it's safe to forecast that Coach Bill Cook's eleven will do the trick.

Enviably record

Winning five out of a six conference schedule, the Dons have amassed a total of 112 points to the opponents 12. This is a criterion of their power,—coming so close to an unscored season—which is something to shout about in the football world.

In piling up this enviable record the jaysee has beaten such teams as Chaffey, twice, San Bernardino, twice, and Riverside.

Team work and effort count

To Coach Bill Cook and the team, we, the Associated Students, salute you on your splendid gridiron record.

Compulsory military training?

President Truman, in a speech to Congress, proposed that all young men, except those who are completely incapacitated physically, should start a one-year training course before reaching the age of 20.

Opposition to the bill argues that such a measure would destroy American tradition in that our democracy was founded on the principles that the government should serve the people and that a peace-time draft would make the American people serve the government. They say too that with the secret of the atomic bomb in our power alone, we need no other form of protection. And that preparing the youth of the country for war is actually asking for war.

● Dick Nelson

Claiming the spotlight this week in the field of chemistry is tall, jovial Dick Nelson, the ace 5A chemistry student.

Dick is majoring in chemistry and hopes to become a chemical engineer. So far his ambition in the field of science is progressing favorably, as he admits that he is working on an experiment which "will obliterate the junior college."

Richard Lee Nelson is now a struggling sophomore at Santa Ana junior college after graduating from Santa Ana high school with a record of three honor society appointments.

At present he holds the college positions of president of the YM-CA and is vice-president of the sophomore class.

Former faculty members start comeback trend after war

This week's question

In the future, do you believe that men under 20 should receive military training for at least one year?

Military Conscription

Opinions for and against military conscription were fairly even according to a straw vote recently taken on the campus. Of the 20 students interviewed, ten were in favor of the program, eight were against it, and two were undecided.

The following gave typical opinions expressed by various students:

Howard Armstrong—I think that a year's military training will be good for all men.

Bill Scott—Yes, two years of training would be a good thing.

Clarence Muchmore—I think that such training should be given as a part of college, and not as straight military training.

Nancy Middleton—I'm definitely not in favor of it.

Betty Smith—I think that it's a good idea for all men to have military training.

Doris Piper—Six months training should be enough.

Jeanette Shook—I don't think that any military training should be necessary during peace-time.

Former faculty members of the Santa Ana Junior College are starting a trend toward home, but others still scattered to the far corners of the globe in the service, according to information in the Don Letter-of-the-month campus publication distributed to the former students who are in military service.

Lt. John Ward, former Don Coach and Sgt. William Elliott, Commerce instructor, have been released from duty and are back at work. Ward is teaching at the Willard Junior High School in the morning and assisting Bill Cole with the high school football team in the afternoon. Elliott is in the commerce department at the high school.

Ensign Gerry Block, former girl's physical education instructor is at Terminal Island and expects to be released sometime in December. Capt. Harry Jackson, accounting instructor, expects to return to Santa Ana soon; and Lt. Sheldon Hayden, former public speaking instructor, needs only two and one half points for a release.

Capt. Thomas Glenn, head of the English department of the junior college, remains overseas with and educational unit at the American University in Biarritz, France.

SHORT (AND PROBABLY TRUE)
HISTORY OF THANKSGIVING

By SHIRLEY DEAM

When John Pilgrim landed on Plymouth he was quite angry because it was a rock instead of a chicken.

He was tired of living on hardtack. So John sat down and thought a while, and after taking another bite of Plymouth Rock, (he was very tired of hardtack) he decided to go and see if there were any other people living on this place he had found. Followed by a whole lot of people who had stowed away on his ship, John made his way through the forest.

On the way, he happened to look up in a tree and saw the sun shining through the leaves. He saw a turkey, too, but he didn't know what it was; so, he said to himself, in the sort of haphazard way he had of speaking—

Strictly From Hunger

"On that limb up there on that tree is a something or other and I don't know what it is or what to call it, so I will name it TURKEY, cause I am HUNGRY."

So he killed it with a 50 millimeter cannon that he'd brought along to shoot canaries with in case he landed on the CANARY ISLANDS by mistake. But the shot made quite a mess of the turkey, so they had hard tack for dinner again that night.

Dig This!

After a good night's rest, John and his stowaways continued on their journey. Suddenly, onto the path stepped a red man. He wasn't embarrassed, he was an Indian. After many exchanges of signs, John found out that the Indian could speak a certain amount of English so he asked what was cooking. The Indian, whose name was CRANBERRY SAUCE, thought that John meant what were they going to have for dinner, so he told him that they were going to have turkey.

Turkey, Cranberries—What No Corn?

John invited himself and his stowaways to dinner, and the Indian accepted. So he had dinner with John and the stowaways that night, bringing his own turkey. CRANBERRY SAUCE brought some kind of berry with him that he crushed and ate, and John liked it so well that he named it cranberry sauce after CRANBERRY SAUCE.

Oh Yes, Here's the Corn

So the Pilgrims had the first Thanksgiving Dinner, and they were thankful because they didn't have to eat hardtack anymore.

The Student Speaks

By DICK SMITH

Sunday, one of the most important conferences in the history of the world got under way when the Prime Ministers of Britain and Canada met with President Truman to discuss what should be done with the atomic bomb.

Sensible Solution

Prime Minister Attlee came forth with the only sensible solution—that the secret of the atomic bomb be shared with those nations, including Russia, who are willing to pool their secret weapons in the interest of World Peace, through the World Security Council.

Mr. Attlee states that the poor relations between the Anglo-Americans and Russia is due to Russian fear of the use we will make of this mightiest weapon of all. In this, we can applaud the Prime Minister for using reason in place of stupid prejudice.

Laugh At Truman

President Truman has proposed that the use of the atomic bomb be outlawed. That's laughable. Any nation desiring to wage war, and in possession of the atomic bomb, will use it. If the World Security Council is strong enough to effectively outlaw the use of the atomic bomb in war, it should be strong enough to prevent war.

There is only one solution to the problems presented by the atomic bomb and other developments in the science of demolition—World unity. The atomic bomb makes nationalism as obsolete as the stagecoach. The World Security Council and other peace machinery must be strong enough to enforce peace, and in order to have this strength, must be willingly supported by all powers.

Security Council Control

The United States and Britain cannot hope to keep the secret of the atomic bomb. It must be turned over to the World Security Council, which should retain exclusive control of it.

Another problem probably taken up at the conference was the immigration of Jews into Palestine. Let us hope that our government took a firm stand on the matter, and informed Mr. Attlee that we believe that Britain should fulfill its promise to create a national home for the Children of Israel.

Hell For Jews

For centuries, the Jews have been a problem in Europe. They have been exiled, enslaved, spat upon, discriminated against in every part of the continent and the globe. The Fascists exterminated them by the millions, and for the past decade, Europe has been for them but a hell on earth. Now that Democracy has triumphed, and the forces of right have come out on top, isn't the Jew entitled to come out of the darkness? Palestine is the natural home for the Jew, and it furnishes a paradise to which many Jews can go, there to live fruitful and happy lives, unmolested.

If Britain would uphold her national honor, if justice is to be done, Palestine must be opened to unrestricted Jewish immigration until it is filled. Then another spot must be reserved to take care of the others. Only when the Jew has been provided with a home, can there be a peace in Europe.

Women represent Santa Ana AWS-WAA jaysee conference

Representatives from Santa Ana junior college played an active part in the AWS-WAA conference held at Chaffey junior college for all Southern California junior colleges from Santa Ana through Oceanside Nov. 10. Eleanor Young, vice-president of AWS, led a discussion on the faculty-students attitudes on the campus, in social activities, and in the classroom. Santa Ana jaysee held a panel on "How Can JC Have a More Collegiate Atmosphere?" Working in collaboration with the Fullerton junior college representatives, Santa Ana women students furnished table decorations and place cards as their contribution for the luncheon which was served by the Chaffey students.

All women invited as YWCA launches membership drive

Striving to increase their membership, the YWCA is holding a drive for new members during the next week. Membership is open to all junior college women students and anyone who is interested in becoming a member is asked to attend the meeting to be held Thursday, November 22, according to Mary Belle Ladd, president. Each meeting is to take as its subject one phase of "Personality Development" which is the subject for the current semester.

● HOLD FORMAL RITES ●

No grade slips until semester, reports McCoy

After the junior college office staff had been bowled over by an avalanche of students clamoring for their mid-term grades, John H. McCoy, director of the junior college, announced that mid-term grades will not be available except in cases of deficiency.

Students will be notified of subject deficiencies by their counselors, and interviews will constitute the only method of warning of low marks.

In past years mid-term grades have not been turned into the office, but this year, because of the number of men students who must remain eligible under the GI veteran's bill and for the selective program, it was necessary for the instructors to turn in present averages.

Students were requested by school officials to discontinue all requests for grade reports.

Science field trip plans complete

Weather permitting, the combined mineralogy and geology classes will head for the mountains early tomorrow morning on a week-end geological excursion.

The group is under the supervision of Mr. Horace A. Scott, science instructor, and proposed plans include investigation of sections of Santa Ana mountains, San Bernardino mountains, and a special trip to the quarries of the Riverside Cement Company.

In an impressive candle-light ceremony held Nov. 12 at the home of Marion George, five pledges of Las Gitanas took vows which made them members of this club.

Each girl was presented with a white corsage made by Mary Olive Tozier.

Immediately following the ceremony refreshments were served after which the girls attended the theater as is tradition with the close of the pledge period.

Las Meninas

New members of Las Meninas were honored with supper at Mary Maxwell's Restaurant in Laguna Beach Monday evening.

Tables were decorated with white candles and white cysanthemums. After supper the pledges participated in the traditional ceremony of each placing one yellow rose in a vase.

A short business meeting followed, conducted by Eleanor Young, president. The Christmas Tea given for the mothers and faculty and a Christmas party to be given the old members by the new ones were the topics of discussion.

Piloteers

The Chapel of the First Methodist Church was the scene Monday evening of a candlelight service held by members of the Piloteers to initiate new members.

Corsages were presented to the pledges and Mrs. Alan Revill, adviser for the group.

The group attended the theater following the initiation.

Spinsters

Seven pledges were welcomed into the Sisterhood of Spinsters at a candlelight ceremony at the home of Mrs. Venice Wetherell Monday evening.

The guests were presented with corsages of white cysanthemums with green ribbon forming the club colors.

Dons Down Chaffey, San Berdoo; Annex Conference Championship

Weakened Panthers slaughtered 38-0

Both Don first and second strings exploded recently to smash a beleaguered Chaffey Panther outfit to the tune of 38-0. 12-minute quarters were all that held the Dons from enlarging on the score.

It took the locals halfway through the opening quarter before they really got rolling, but after that they pushed the little Chaffey squad hither and yon.

Schlegel scores

First touchdown was made by Chuck Schlegel, who combined with Tom Kilker in a drive down the field featured by long runs. A fifty yard pass from Don Miller to Paul Myrehn, after one just like it which was called back, added the second Don touchdown.

Gene Cairns to Don Vaughn featured the third drive, with Vaughn going over. The halftime score was 20-0. The second team again opened the second half with Chuck Schlegel going over. In the closing minutes of play, fumblyitis added to the Chaffey disgrace.

Recover fumbles

Recovered fumbles by Bill Mayes and Jim Cook on the Panthers' 36 and 16 yard markers set up the last two tallies. Myrehn scored the fifth marker while a pass from Myrehn to Mayes resulted in the final score.

Statistics revealed that the Dons chalked up 17 first downs to Chaffey's four, while travelling 227 yards on the turf and 115 through the air, for a total of 392, while the Panthers could combine only 87 yards. The Dons showed an excellent passing average, completing eight out of 14.

PONY WINS RECOGNITION

Appearing in a bulletin published by the American Association of Teachers of Journalism, is a short article commenting upon the Pony edition of El Don, which is sent to former students now in the service.

Between the Halves

By DICK REISH
Sports Editor

There was one worried man on the squad just before the San Berdoo tilt. I am referring to Roger Neth, who thought for a while that he might have to play the entire game. It seems that since practice the day before Jack Stanley, the probable starter in the left half position, had come down with the flu, and nobody knew anything about it until just before the game. Roger, the only other left half, was on the spot, but Wendell Losh came to the rescue by stepping in when Neth needed a rest.

Not Discouraged

For those who didn't see that second touchdown against Chaffey, all I can say is—too bad. But I would like to know why it happened. It seems that the Dons had the ball on the Chaffey 37 and that Don Miller threw a long aerial to Paul Fyrehn for the score. But the play was called back and a penalty slapped on the locals. Not discouraged, the Dons pulled exactly the same play and scored again.

Lopsided

If statistics up to press time Wednesday prove anything, the Dons look pretty good compared to Fullerton in the coming game. After all, Fullerton only won from Chaffey by two T.D.'s in 60 minutes while the Dons rolled up six in 48 minutes. But the Glendale game may prove otherwise.

Don of the Week

It was announced by Vander-masts that the Don of the Week for the Chaffey game was Jim Cook, big rugged left tackle.

The outstanding player for the San Bernardino game was Don Vaughn, tall lanky left end from Newport.

Santa Ana extends win chain to five

A stubborn San Bernardino Indian eleven, intent on securing an upset over a highly favored Santa Ana squad, was forced to give ground to the home-team for three touchdowns last Friday to drop a hard-fought fracas to the locals 20-0.

The victory gave the Dons the championship of the Eastern Division, as Fullerton has only two contests scheduled in that league.

Myrehn makes six

The Dons started on their first scoring drive from midfield, from where Don Miller passed to Jack Craven for seven and then ran for seven more. Drives from Miller and Paul Myrehn gave the locals a first down on the Indian 9. Myrehn scored on an end run from this point, and Miller galloped across for the extra point.

The second touchdown was sparked by passes from Myrehn to Chuck Schlegel and Don Vaughn, and running by Schlegel, with Myrehn again skirting left end for the tally.

Scarbrough connects

The final score of the evening commenced at midfield, with Don Miller fighting his way, in two plays, to the San Berdoo 29. A pass from Miller to Roger Neth took the ball all the way to the 9, from where Miller flipped another aerial to Gene Scarbrough, who loped across.

The Dons rolled up 18 first downs and 348 yards, while giving up 8 and 137 to San Bernardino. Santa Ana passing was far from its best, but almost half were completed.

Jaysee gridders guests at Kiwanis luncheon

Santa Ana Don football members were honored guests at a dinner given by the local Kiwanis club at which time Jeff Cravath, coach of the Southern California Trojans, was the main speaker last Wednesday.

Coach Cravath's talk was on his experiences in football and about many of the great coaches on the Pacific. The Trojan mentor talked about how the game of football has been modernized since the time that it was started.

Dons win sixth straight

Still undefeated and untied although badly scared by a rousing good Glendale eleven, the Dons finally eked out a 12 to 6 victory last night at the Municipal Bowl.

Santa Ana won on a final sensational drive by Chuck Schlegel, slender back, who ran the ball solo for 78 yards on a series of plays.

Scoring opened fast and furiously for both teams as Glendale marched to pay dirt in the first three minutes on a pass by Houston to Smythe which was good for 58 yards to the Santa Ana two yard line. Houston bucked over on the third try and Black's try for point was low.

Santa Ana immediately came back with a series of passing and running plays. Miller ran end for 44 yards and Myrehn made 13 yards. Miller passed to Scott for a touchdown. Milled failed to run the point.
